CHURCH LOCATION IS SELECTED

Is Decided to Archbishop—Fool Makes Burglar Alarm.

[Some of the local happenings of 1866 are related in this article.]

Evidently the people in the early days of our history fully justified a woman in protecting herself at whatever cost, and this regardless of color or association, as witness an account of an inquest held in the early part of March. Justice Durham of this place was called to hold an inquest upon the "corpse" of an Indian named Phillipa, on the San Pedro ranch. It appears that a "colored gentleman" by the name of Williams had taken upon himself a copper-colored "rib"—a young and comely Dahala. One day, Williams being away from home, Phillipa, a young native about 21 years old, who had been in the habit of frequenting the house, came to the place, and while there the spirit moved him to lay hold of the Mahala, while she was cutting bread with a common butcher knife. The struggled to release herself from his grasp, and in doing so the knife by some means was stuck in the inside of his leg near the body, cutting an artery, from which he bled to death in about 10 minutes.
The verdict of the jury was "accidental homicide"—in other words, served the "Injun" right for daring to take liberties with the wife of an American citizen.

The annual election of officers of St.
Peter's Episcopal Church, of this city, was held April 9th, at a meeting held at the Courthouse and presided over by Rev. A. L. Brewer. The following gentlemen were elected vestrymen: B.
G. Lathrop, A. S. Eaton, Dr. S. S.
Stambaugh, T. W. Lathrop, Jesse Jewell and J. Shelly. B. G. Lathrop and A. S. Eaton were selected to represent the parish in the convention of the Diocese, which was held in San Francisco in May.

That home-made burglar alarms are very liable to act when not intended is shown by a rather peculiar accident which occurred in this town. It seems that the proprietor of the Popular Saloon had been suffering from night de-pressions and had reason to suspect that the unwelcome visitors had gained entrance through a vacant room next to his place but in the same building. To guard against a repetition of his losses he devised a murderous "self-acting" guard for the door of the vacant store.
This consisted of a four-barrel Sharp's pistol, so arranged that should any one attempt to open the door it would be discharged point blank at the opening.
Of course no one was informed of the presence of this infernal machine, and there came its opportunity to get in its deadly work on an innocent party, as is usually the case. A day or two after this contrivance had been arranged, L.
Maxwell, the owner of the building, secured an applicant for a lease of the vacant store and took him for a look at the place. He unlocked the door without any sign of trouble, but had pushed it open but a trifle when he was greeted by the noise of the discharge of a pistol and the unpleasant sensation of a bullet striking his breast in the vicinity of the seat of life. Making his way to the saloon, Maxwell was met by Crowley, the proprietor of the place, who was astounded at the result of his "scheme." Maxwell was hurried to his home and two physicians summoned. An examination revealed the singular circumstance that the reason the shot had not resulted fatally was due to that handy contrivance a "pocket in a shirt." The pistol had been placed in such a position that the should have ranged upward and probably entered the heart. Instead of this it struck a button on a pocket in the woolen overshirt worn by Maxwell and was deflected downward, inflicting but a slight wound.

Early in the month of April a deed was recorded by which Horace Hawes conveyed to Archbishop Allemany the lands for the site for the Catholic church building in this city. While plans for the structure had been prepared, the actual work of construction was not begun for some little time as the necessary funds had not been entirely pledged.
With the securing of the lot, Father Dempsey went actively at the work of completing the subscription list.

On the 23d of April Henry Detels died from injuries received in an accident in this city. In company with Martin Kuck, deceased had just put in operation a new distillery in the northern part of town. While Detels was at work about the still one of the pipes burst, covering his back and legs with boiling liquid. He left a wife and three children.

At the meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Odd Fellows, held in San Francisco, Charles N. Fox was elected to the office of Deputy Grand Master.

Cogswell Beats Sequoia.

Saturday morning, the sophomore basketball team of Cogswell Polytechnic College, San Francisco, defeated Sequoia Union High School, on the school grounds, with a score of 7 to 6. The game was played rapidly, and the teams being so equally matched, proved exceedingly interesting from the start. Despite the good playing, neither side scored a point or the first twelve minutes.
It was a good clean game and enjoyed by all.

After the game the girls basketball team served lunch in the chemistry room to the players of both teams, and a delightful lunch it proved to be. The social hour immediately after was a fitting close to the day's pleasure. The boys of the Cogswell team demonstrated that they were thorough gentlemen in every respect, and a "dandy" time was the general opinion.

Sequoia's boys played a good game but lost a number of chances for scoring by poor throws for goals. It will require further practice to make them proficient for this work.

Game Warden Wants Revenge.

Alex Dornbrowsky, foreman of the Henry H. Davis ranch near King's mountain, swore to a warrant in Judge Loveland's court Friday charging Grove Wyman with burglary.
Wyman, who is a deputy game warden of Santa Clara county residing at Mountain View, spent the summer camping near the Davis ranch and it is alleged that he stole hay and other products from the place systematically all summer. He was finally detected and when charged by Dornbrowsky with the crime, after first denying it he offered to pay for what he had taken. Wyman's trial will take place on the 15th. He has retaliated by having Dornbrowsky arrested for hunting without a license.

Honeymoon Was Short.

Mrs. William Warren Craig, a bride of a week, who with her prospective husband secured a license from Deputy County Clerk Lowe at 2 o'clock last Wednesday morning and was wedded before sunrise at San Mateo, is heartbroken in San Francisco at the disappearance of her spouse. She claims that he is held in duress by his father and has sued out a writ of habeas corpus to compel his appearance in court. The elder Craig says the marriage was a disgraceful affair, both parties being drunk. He says he will disown his son, who is 37 years old, should he persist in living with the woman he has made his wife. Mrs. Craig was Miss Cornelia Beatty before her marriage.

Sophomores Win Debate.

The third debate of the high school year took place in the Assembly hall Friday afternoon, with Superintendent of Schools Roy Cloud, Rev. Thomas Leak and Miss Hattie Nols acting as judges.

The subject was: "Resolved, That the island possessions of the United States are a detriment," and was handled on the affirmative by Roy Wood-hams and Robert Kelly, sophomores, and on the negative by Frank Griffin and Charles McCracken, freshmen.
The decision was in favor of the affirmative, thus giving another victory to the sophomore class, which has but the seniors to vanquish.

Clifton Woodhams gave an interesting talk on "Class Sport" and O.
M. Carrington sang a beautiful solo.

Queer Damage Claim.

Fred A. Simmons, the constable at Halfmoon Bay is the defendant in an unusual suit. Recently T. J. Brady, a butcher at San Mateo secured a judgment against a farmer on the coast named Antone Venturi for $175 and seized as security for his claim a bean crop valued at $250. During the recent rainstorm the crop which was unharvested, was ruined.
Brady has begun suit against the constable for $250, the value of the crop, and alleges in his complaint that the officer is guilty of culpable neglect in not harvesting the crop.
He charges that the constable and the farmer entered into a conspiracy to cause the loss of the beans.

Editor May Be Rich.

Paul Pinckney, the wellknown San Mateo journalist, is a prospective millionaire. Mr. Pinckney is a descendant of the old Pinckney family of Georgia, famed for its statesmanship and wealth. Recently the San Mateo editor was notified of the death of a grand aunt in New York who left an estate of some $20-000,000. There are a number of heirs but not enough to make the division insignificant. Paul may get a million at least and no one will grudge him his good fortune.

BAY GIVES UP BODY

Remains of Young Stanford Student Found on Bay Shore.

The body of Charles W. Anthony, the Stanford student who was drowned at Dumbarton October 31st, was recovered from the bay Sunday, having been in the water just a week.
The remains were found on the bay shore by employees of the Morgan Oyster Company and being in this county were taken in charge by Mr.
Crowe and removed to this city where an inquest was held Monday by Deputy Coroner Cronk.

Anthony and some companions were riding bicycles on the smooth floor of Dumbarton bridge, Anthony well in the lead, when he was seen to ride obliquely to the platform's edge and to plunge, still astride his wheel, into the swirling tide. Careful watch was kept from day to day until the body was discovered.

A pathetic incident connected with the young man's tragic death was that his father, a Sterling, Illinois, merchant was on his way for a visit with his son and daughter, and arrived on the day following the drowning. The unfortunate youth and his sister resided in Palo Alto. The funeral was held Monday.

Gas in the Kitchen

A gas company lays no pretension to being a philanthropic institution, and yet in its struggle to develop its business, the gas industry has lightened the labor and increased the comfort of millions of women.

The New York World, in the course of an editorial on the "Golden Age," said: "The kitchen maid of the present day knows more than the fine ladies of Versailles knew when the Louises were kings, and has more comforts and conveniences."

Today the kitchen without a gas range in a community where gas is obtainable is a rarity, and is deemed very antique and primitive by the marriageable generation of young women.

Nearly all women who live in cities will admit, upon reflection, that the gas stove is the greatest single domestic blessing that has become theirs in the last quarter of a century.

Women sufficiently fortunate to know what it is to be free from the intolerable summer superheat of the coal range, and from the well-founded terror of the gasolene stove. It is also their privilege to enjoy the great economy of the gas-burning stove, its immense labor-saving advantage and its cleanliness of operation.

The time was reached some years ago when gas in the kitchen came within the financial reach of every family in the city.

BRIDGE BUILDING SLOW

Dumbarton Crossing Still Far From Completion.

The fourth span of the Dumbarton bridge has been completed and is put in place yesterday. This span is 135 feet long and the material weighs 470 tons.

The concrete piers required by the depth of the water have taken a long time in their construction. The span was put together on a trestle extending out from the shore. The old ferryboat Thoroughfare was cut in half and placed under the span at low tide. When the tide came in the span was lifted free from the trestle and was then floated to its position in the bridge at high tide. As the tide went out the span settled upon the piers.

Two more spans remain to be built and this will require probably six months of time. There also remains a considerable amount of filling to be done at each end of the bridge and about two and a half miles of track to be laid on the bridge approaches. When the approach to the west end of the bridge was banked up it was done by excavating from each side of the embankment. The soil is soft and muddy and the weight of the embankment caused it to sink. A suction dredger is now at work bringing material from a creek a half mile distant to fill in and strengthen the approach. The draw was put in place some time ago.

The construction of the bridge has proven a more difficult task than was anticipated owing to the depth of the water and the swiftness of the current and the work has taken a much longer time than was at first estimated, as well as proving more expensive.

Pescadero Correspondence.

PESCADERO, Nov. 12.—We had a good rain so the farmers can go to plowing.

The steamer Surprise was at Pigeon Point Sunday loading grain but cargo on account of the rough water.

Capt. Brown and his crew are at New Years Island putting in new engines as they will soon blow the whistles with compressed air instead of steam.

We hear that the Ocean Shore R. R. is to resume work full blast, and will have the road completed to Pescadero in 90 days. Let it come we are ready for it.

Dr. and Mrs. Thompson are home from San Francisco and reports the roads very slippery.

The ocean has been very rough for the past few days.

Frank A. Woodman has been on the sick list for a few days but is getting along fine.

Mrs. Cummings has returned home after a visit with her daughter Mrs. F. A. Woodman at Pigeon Point.

Mrs. Glanville went to San Francisco Tuesday.

J. G. Anderson, President of the Pomona Game Club has returned from a trip through Oregon and Washington, where he has gathered up a number of grouse, Chinese pheasant and some Bob White quail which he intends turning out on the preserve at Pomona.

A PLAGUE OF ANTS.

The Vicious Insects Are a Nuisance in Southwestern Africa.

"Ants—white, black and yellow—are a great nuisance in Nigeria," says Charles Partridge in "Cross River Natives." "They march from place to place in military formation. Some carry their young, others bear food, and scouts and a fighting escort are always on duty. Their column looks like a long black snake curving along the ground."

"They leave behind them a well formed road about four inches broad and half an inch deep, worn smooth by the tread of the countless throng."

"They do not bite when the sun is high, but woe betide the hapless wight who comes in their way at other times! While traveling through the bush you occasionally find them in possession of a section of the road. Perhaps you are in the midst of them before you discover the presence of your small but fierce adversary. The first man bitten yells out something meaning, 'Ware ants!' and we all hurry forward, stamping vigorously. Those of us upon whom the little warriors have fastened tear off our clothes and nip the foes to death. My little black horse always wanted to turn back when he came to a column of ants. My dog Bob, a native, used to dance like a bear on hot bricks when the driver ants got between his paws and had to be held down while they were plucked out."

"One night I suddenly awoke with a feeling that something was amiss. All the household pets, such as snakes, lizards, rats, toads, centipedes and spiders, seemed to be bestirring themselves restlessly. No sooner had my foot touched the ground than I knew what it was, for a fierce bite told me that the driver ants were upon us."

"On lighting a candle I found a column marching across the floor and a whole regiment attacking my bed. I roused the assistant district commissioner, and eventually, using wicks of burning paper, we drove out the enemy. Fire or hot ashes are the best means to use for expelling them."

More Road Pointers.

The agitation for good roads in the county and the prospective bond issue has aroused considerable discussion in the county and the following communications on the question may be read with interest. These columns are open to any one wishing to give his views.

San Mateo, Cal., October 5th, 1929

The editor of the Times-Gazette:

Dear Sir:—A movement is on foot in this county to request the Board of Supervisors to appoint a Highway Commission of three members to investigate the county's needs in regard to highway construction.

There can be no doubt that our citizens are united upon the opinion that San Mateo county needs better roads and more of them. This county above all others in the state should have first class roads because it is destined to become almost entirely a county of beautiful homes and country clubs, and good roads are a part and parcel of such improvements.

Owing to cheaper transportation Alameda county in the past few years has outstripped San Mateo but the time is rapidly approaching when San Mateo will come into her own.

The important point in this matter that needs to be remembered at the present time is that in considering a bond issue for road construction and improvement in this county, there will be three distinct interests to serve and protect. These interests are firstly: that of the farmer and rancher; secondly, that of the owner of lands now on the market in subdivisions; thirdly, that of the automobile owner and pleasure seeker.

All these interests are entitled to equal consideration and must be equally considered if we expect to carry this matter to a successful conclusion. To this end it would certainly be desirable to appoint a Commission, so constituted that each of these interests would be represented and receive its due consideration. The taxpayers of San Mateo county are intelligent and fully awake to the situation and will vote in favor of good roads if the matter is put before them in a fair, equitable and sensible way.

Very truly yours,
 D. BROMFIELD.

That 13 is an unlucky number was demonstrated last Tuesday. District Attorney, armed with thirteen warrants for the arrest of the Menlo Park saloon men, went to Menlo Park accompanied by Sheriff Chatham and a call reporter. They party had only gone as beyond Five Points when their automobile broke down and they were compelled to return to town for another machine. Verily 13 is still an unlucky number.

It is to be regretted that William Warren, the Menlo Park saloon man, lost his temper in striking William Casale for informing on him to the officers, yet very little sympathy is expressed for Casale for since Adam's time an informer has been looked upon as a disgraceful personage and time has not changed the opinion of him.

H. E. Holmquist successfully passed the examination for permission to practice before the Courts of Oregon last month, and is now a practicing attorney in Eugene, Oregon. Mr. Holmquist took the test with a number of others. The applicants were given 56 questions which were answered in writing from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. After the correction of the papers Mr. Holmquist received a highly congratulatory letter from the secretary of the Court complimenting him upon the manner in which he had answered these questions.

Both are former residents of this county. Mr. Saunders lived at Portola over 40 years ago. For many years he was the confidential agent of the late Jerry Clarke, the capitalist and land owner. Mr. Saunders marvels at the progress Redwood City is making. He was married in this city before the Catholic church was built. The nuptial knot was tied by Father Dempsey in a house near the depot that has long since been torn down to make way for a more modern structure. AFTER BAD DEBTORS

Members of Redwood City Board of Trade Consider New Plans to Beat the "Dead Beat."

Owing to the fact that much of the time of the meeting of the Board of Trade last Tuesday evening was devoted to the discussion of means best adapted for the protection of the merchants from the losses sustained from the too prevalent credit system, but little business of general importance to the city was transacted. While it is admitted that the plan of giving credit is frequently a decided accommodation to the customer and is appreciated, at the same time it has been found that the city has of late been infested with a class of what might be termed "dead beats," who make a practice of trading with one merchant until he refuses longer to trust them and then transferring the business to some other dealer and again securing credit for sums which they make no effort to pay. It is against this latter class that it is felt some concerted action must now be taken. To this end, Secretary Kincaid is now working upon a plan which it is hoped will at least materially curtail the risk on this account and which will be put into operation as soon as the details are perfected.

In addition to this H. J. Craft and F. G. Prescott, representing the Commercial Underwriters of Oakland, presented to the Board their plan for the collection of bad debts. This system involves a series of dunnos through correspondence, giving the creditor an opportunity to dispute the account if he has any reason to do so, followed as a last resort by the offering of the account for sale in the section where he resides. The plan met the approval of those present and will be adopted by some of the merchants.

An invitation was received to attend the laying of the corner stone of the new city hall at Mountain View on the 24th of this month. While no official action was taken, it is probable that a number of the members will attend.

For satisfaction, honest goods at right prices you should try Liebigers. Full line fine candies, canned goods, fruit, etc. Palo Alto Home Bakery goods. The best place in town to secure goods.

All those who attend the Palo Alto theaters from here are advised to take their firearms with them to protect themselves from the thugs and rowdies that frequent these places. The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ratje was christened Alois Marie by Rev. Moodie last Sunday.

Many will attend the big game at Stanford today. It's dollars to doughnuts the saloon men who attend will not crack their voices yelling for the cardinal colors. Who could blame them?

Since the arrest of the saloonmen made last Tuesday the town is practically dry. At night the village has a graveyard appearance. It is said many are wending their weary way south beyond the San Francisco creek to get booze. It is said many blind pigs and pigs that are not blind exist there.

It would be well for all the saloon men to comply with the law and completely close their places until such time as the law has been tested in the higher court. We believe this would be a wise policy.

A young son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lynch Thursday evening. George Casey has been awarded the contract to put in the curbing and 1 y sidewalks on the streets and avenues in North Fair Oaks. It will take all winter to do the work and it will cost several thousand dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. Moodie will soon leave for Nebraska to reside. It is to be regretted that Rev. Moodie has resigned the pastorate of the Presbyterian church for he has done splendid work in building up the church by constant labor and diligence. He was popular with all creeds and classes and won the confidence of everyone. Mr. Moodie has done more for the Presbyterian church than any other minister that has ever been here. His departure is indeed a source of much regret among the people of Menlo Park who wish him and Mrs. Moodie every success where ever they may elect to go.

The Superior Court has confirmed the sale of lot 18 in the Quilotta tract containing 4.86 acres to Thanksgiving Day Celebration.

Menlo Park Parish will celebrate Thanksgiving Day this year by a musical and literary entertainment, to be given in the Parochial Hall Tuesday evening, November 23d, at 8 o'clock. The program is an excellent one, and will include music by a select orchestra, songs, an oration appropriate to the occasion, and a farce to be produced by the young men of the Parish. The orator of the evening will be the well known attorney and public speaker, Mr. Samuel M. Shortridge. Mr. Shortridge's fame as an orator and public speaker is so well known that no comment is required, except to remark that his presence on the program is of itself sufficient to assure anyone of the excellence of the entertainment. The farce to be played is known as "A Tender Attachment," and depicts in a highly amusing manner, the difficulties of a young artist in trying to follow his chosen vocation. The following young men will impersonate the various characters: John E. Welsh, Howard Crane, John J. Doyle, James E. Fitzgerald, Joseph Kelly, Leo Duff and John W. Morry. The entertainment is in charge of the following committee, chosen by the Gentlemen's Sodality: Messrs. Jas. T. O'Keefe, C. A. Brady, D. J. Driscoll, W. J. Murray, A. W. Gale, C. M. Weidner, C. T. Maloney and G. H. Smith.

The following ladies from the Ladies Sodality will take charge of the refreshments: Mrs. D. Tuttle, Mrs. F. Derry, Agnes Mason and Nellie Casey. Good music and enjoyment will be the order of the evening, and a pleasant time, for which Menlo entertainments are noted, will be assured to all who attend.

Death of Mrs. Roche.
Mrs. Mary J. G. Roche passed away Wednesday evening at her home after an illness of two weeks from heart disease. Dr. Ross was called early in the case and did all he could to relieve her suffering. Later Dr. Walter B. Coffey, chief surgeon of the United Railroads of San Francisco, and Dr. McMonagle, one of the most skilled physicians in the city, were called in consultation and did all that medical skill could to save the patient's life but despite their assistance she succumbed to the malady. Mrs. Roche was 49 years of age and was born in Ireland but came to Menlo Park with her father Martin Geoghegan, when she was a mere child and spent the greater portion of her life in this town. Twenty odd years ago she married David Roche and seven children were born to the happy union. Mrs. Roche was a good mother and a devoted wife and raised a respectable family of five daughters and two sons. The funeral took place yesterday morning from the Church of the Nativity where a requiem high mass was celebrated. Interment was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Menlo Park.

BAY PIRATES CAUGHT

Sheriff Chatham Lands in Toils of the Law Three Men Who Are Suspected of Many Crimes.

In the arrest of William Woodhead, Benjamin Maple and Manuel Hoagland early Thursday morning, Sheriff Chatham believes that he has captured three of the boldest pirates that ever operated on San Francisco Bay.

Chatham was walking along the bank of Redwood creek Thursday morning, when he perceived a 30 foot sloop making its way up the stream. As the boat drew closer the sheriff recognized one of its occupants as William Woodhead, who is wanted by the police of Point Richmond for an alleged highway robbery two months ago.

Woodhead and his two companions disembarked in the vicinity of the Frank tannery and were immediately questioned by Chatham, whose suspicions had been aroused. The answers of the trio were unsatisfactory and they were arrested.

The sheriff and his deputies made an examination of the contents of the boat and found enough shotguns, rifles, revolvers, ammunition and provisions in the cabin to arm and feed a regiment. The name of the sloop had been covered with a thick coating of paint and the police believe that it was stolen from some point on the bay shore.

Chatham believes that the series of thefts that have been reported all along the shores of the bay, from Alviso to San Pablo, is the work of the three men who are now in the county jail. The guns and ammunition probably were taken from the cabins of duck hunters in the marsh on the east and west sides of the bay.

Merchandise Stock Sold.

The main stock of the old Doctor Tripp store has been brought by Neuman Brothers who are removing the goods to their large store at Woodside. Neuman Bros. have built up a large business and carry one of the largest stocks of groceries in the county. The closing of the old Tripp store marks an epoch in the history of Woodside. It was erected by Tripp in 1849 and the first merchandise store opened in the county. The Doctor did a large business in early days with the lumber camps in and around Woodside. The old building is still in a good state of preservation but it is possible the old land mark will be torn down.

Dr. Taggart who filled the position of Examining physician in Protection Camp, W. O. W. of Stockton Cal., with ability and entire satisfaction to the membership has been elected to fill that position in Elmhurst Camp, W. O. W. lately made vacant by the death of Dr. W. M. Barret.

WAS MEMBER OF THE VIGILANTES

An Aged Pioneer of California Pays Short Visit to Redwood City:

MEMBER OF MURPHY PARTY

Thos. Dunbar Tells of Experiences in Day When Mining Stocks Were Speculator's Favorites.

Thomas Dunbar, one of the oldest of the pioneers of the State of California, spent a few days in Redwood City this week on the way to his home at Stockton from Paso Robles, where he spent the past few weeks recuperating. On his way he tarried for a time in San Jose, which he says was a forest of mustard stalks when he first knew the place. Although in his 94th year, the old gentleman is hale and hearty in appearance, and is possessed of a fund of reminiscences of the early days.

A native of Ireland, he came to this country when quite a young man settling in the Eastern states. He was, however, among the earliest to catch the Western fever, and came to California with the Murphy party, which included such pioneers as Dan Martin, Jim and John Murphy, all of whom were prominently identified with the early development of the state. With the Murphys he first settled in Santa Clara county and for a time engaged in farming and cattle raising.

After the discovery of gold, he caught the mining fever and with his early companions struck out in search of gold, first locating with the Murphy family what in a short time became notorious as Murphy's camp in Calaveras county, one of the richest of the diggings. Here he remained but a few years amassing a considerable fortune, when he drifted back to the coast and associated in the first survey of the City of San Francisco, and took part in the stirring days of the Vigilance Committee.

Among his other notable experiences, Dunbar took part in the rescue of the Donner Party when they were in their extremity at Donner Lake. In speaking of this he mentions the striking circumstance that while the party were at the point of starvation food was practically at hand had they been aware of the fact. Located in the camp by the lake had they but scraped away the covering of snow and broken ice they would have found the waters so filled with fish that they might readily have been caught with the hand.

Like the majority of the early residents of the State, Dunbar fell a victim to the fever of mining stock speculation which became epidemic in 1877, and lost almost his entire fortune. Like the most of his neighbors, every cent he could raise was poured into the coffers of Flood & O'Brien and the other magnates of the stock market.

Prominent Families United.

The announcement of the marriage of Miss Lezebel Pomeroy of Palo Alto and Charles Boudin is made. Miss Pomeroy, who is one of Palo Alto's most beautiful girls and a musician of considerable note, comes of an old French family, being the grand daughter of the late Paul Heitzberg, the pioneer of the French press in San Francisco, and for many years a resident of this city. She is a favorite here and also in the social circles of San Francisco and Oakland.

Mr. Boudin is a prominent business man of San Francisco and is well known. This marriage will unite two of the oldest French families on the coast. The marriage will take place in San Francisco at the Church of Notre Dame des Victoires late in December.

Given Big Reception.

After a six months' tour through Europe, Peter Thorsen and wife returned home Monday evening. They arrived in San Mateo on the 8:29 train and were welcomed home by the San Mateo brass band which met them at the train and a grand display of fire-works on Conway's corner.

The people who were on the other street and at their homes who heard the fire-crackers and booms, thought that since the last eclipse of the moon, China New Year had been changed, but those who went around the corner to find out what all the noise was, saw Pete greeting his many friends.
